

Left: 'Shoes, clothes and items are a simple way of visually creating something exciting,' says Shaynna with Toni. Right: The TV star loves the room!

Organic cotton garments from $5.95 AROMABABY

ROOM MAKEOVER

Toni Pearen and husband Will Osmond are expecting their first child in December, so OK! enlisted the talents of Selling Houses Australia's interior designer Shaynna Blaze-Vaughan to help create the perfect nursery for the couple. 'Will and Toni are really grounded people, who love nature,' says Shaynna. 'I wanted to stick with earthy tones and things they can build on in the future when they know whether the baby's a boy or girl.' She says the biggest mistake people make when doing a nursery is going too over the top. 'You don't have to get everything straight away,' she explains. 'And think of the practicalities – the storage, changing table and the basinet. We've got the essentials, but left room for them to add.' The area wasn't large, and had to double as a guest room, so Shaynna used a multi-functional day bed. 'We've got a lot of storage,' she says. 'It may not look it, but we've got all the baskets and the drawers under the bed, which will be great for all the extra toys and things'. So, what do the expectant parents think of their new room? 'It's just so beautiful,' says Toni. 'I love the sensibility of it, I love the colours and how it fits with our style. It's made me even more excited about the baby.'

Toni Pearen's DREAM NURSERY

OK! roped in some expert help to turn Toni's spare room into a baby haven

Before

'This one is a bassinet cradle, but they can also take it as a carry cradle when they go out,' says Shaynna

Tree blanket basinet size blanket $95 adult size blanket $330 LUNA GALLERY

The day bed has three large drawers and pulls out to a double. The blanket and rug give the room an adult touch. 'The rug put colour in the room, without going too bold,' says the interior designer

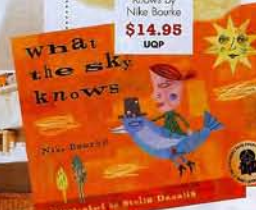

'We mixed a few high-end items with some good basics from IKEA,' says Shaynna of the Oeuf cot. 'Just stick with the same colour tone so they blend in'

Tip!
For more on the products and a few design tips, visit www.okmagazine.com.au. You can see Shaynna on Selling Houses Australia or visit her website at www.shaynna blaze.com

Sheepskin bear $49.95 FLATOUT BEAR

What the Sky Knows by Nike Booke $14.95 UQP

Wildflower rug $899 THE RUG COLLECTION

Vintage slippers $34.95 ISOKI

Bassinet basket $84.99 IKEA

Baby organic skincare pack $99.95 AROMABABY

Cot in birch $1449 OEUF KIDD STORE

Hammock day bed $599 IKEA

Moses basket $250 Basket stand $99.95 GERTIE AND ME

Spotted cot blanket $139 LUNA GALLERY

Hanavik bookshelf (with change table) $249 IKEA

Wall stickers from $39.95 LOVE MAE

'The [Love Mae] wall stickers can be pulled off and stuck in a different position,' she says